MURDER AT THE ELKS A GOGO

We'll have a blast on the dance floor, but somebody will be having a bummer of a time, get hacked off and go ape and an unsuspecting bloke will croak.

opened our 22nd meeting today after looking like a deer in the headlights for a few minutes. Once going, he was fine. Beth Giraud led the pledge, and Dan Brown delivered the invocation. Wendy David introduced one visiting Rotarian, and guests were introduced by Pamela Dressler, Rick Roberts, Greg Dale, and Kim McReynolds, who brought along the club's youngest Rotarian-in-waiting (who looked considerably cuter than most of us who've already arrived).

Jerry Colivas received a nice note from the family of Don Michaels, and had no other news to report.

For our Rotary Minute, the ever-eloquent Don Bachman quizzed about our knowledge of Arch Klumph, and sadly, none of us passed. Arch Klumph, it turns out, was the founder of the Rotary Foundation and was the 6th Rotary president. In 1917, Klumph proposed legislation to start the foundation. A multi-talented man, he taught himself to play the flute, thus assuring an empty seat on the subway would always be waiting for him.

John Ennis has plenty of extra club photos, so please let

John know if you would like one, and he'll make it happen.

"The victim has been secured," said Cindy Denbo, referring to the "bitchin" time we'll be having on February 10 at the Elks. A Go-Go.

Howard Julien reported that next week is election day at the club!!!!!! The slate of officers is as follows:

President
Mary Crumley

President-elect
John Ennis

Vice President
Pat Dillman

We have nominated 6 members to run for 3 positions on the Board of Directors, so we need to make a very tough choice next week between: Bob Burchit, Mary Kay Hartman, Keith Korbin, Eddie Morgan, John Vandermolen, and Mary Lou Riley. A fine field of candidates, for sure.

Johnson, Beth Giraud, Randy Hansen (and Greg Dale). Being born in New Year's Day, John Koopmans turned over $40 for the privilege.

Maggie Kraft from the Senior Resource Center presented some special artwork to Cindy Denbo and Jay Sooter as a special "thank you" for the club's generous contribution to the badly-needed New Alzheimer's Facility. December birthday members were recognized for $20 apiece, as follows: Lou Quinby (who finally received his coveted shell), Mary Crumley, Roland

The drawing was won by Randy Hansen for $10. Rick Roberts introduced Jeff Jacobsen, Chief Professional Officer of the Boys and Girls Club who gave an interesting update on the things going on at their facilities, and the significant benefits they offer to the youth of our community.
